

ea

(as in bread)
(in the middle of a word)

_____	_____	_____
-----	-----	-----
_____	_____	_____

head deaf dead lead sweat death

thread spread dread stead tread breath

1

_____	_____	_____
-----	-----	-----
_____	_____	_____

ea

(as in bread)

(in the middle of a word)

dead deaf head death spread meant lead* read*

_____ = _____

_____ = _____

_____ = _____

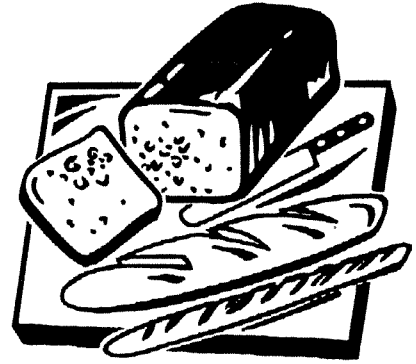

_____ = _____

_____ = _____

ea

(as in bread)

(in the middle of a word)

bread death sweat wealth health tread spread deaf dread threat thread

ea

(as in bread)
(in the middle of a word)

head deaf lead death sweat thread spread threat breath health wealth dread

“spread the jam on the bread” “good health”

“on your head” “dreaded going to the store” “the lead pan”

“the deaf child” “the death of the man” “a person of wealth”

Words to Spell:

ea

(as in bread)
(usually in the middle of a word)

_____	_____	_____
-----	-----	-----
_____	_____	_____

dead head lead read death bread

thread deaf sweat tread spread breath

“place the book on your head” “had some nice bread”

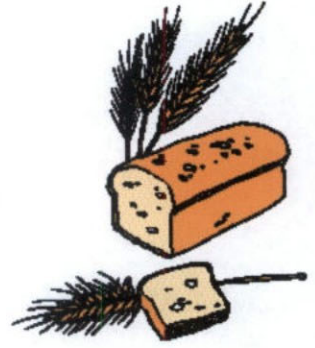

“spread jam on the bread” “read a good book”

_____	_____
-----	-----
_____	_____
_____	_____
-----	-----
_____	_____

_____	_____	_____
-----	-----	-----
_____	_____	_____

ea

(as in bread)
(usually in the middle of a word)

head deaf dead lead read death bread sweat tread stead dread threat thread spread

“spread jam on the bread” “read a good book”

“tilted his head to the left” “dreaded going to class”

“was scared because of the threat” “buy some red thread”

Words to Spell:
